

Species-appropriate feeding tailored to individual needs

Nature sets our standards

The basis of any success in equine sports is the all-important harmony between man and animal. It can only develop if the horse is healthy, even-tempered, at ease and comfortable in every respect. To achieve this condition the horse should, on the one hand, never suffer from lack of vital nutrients but, on the other hand, never be fed too much, either. The exact dosage of a correct feed-mix is the basic prerequisite to keep a horse strong and confident.

That is why we at eQuantum focus on a feed concept mainly based on natural ingredients. We make use of plants that strengthen horses and keep them fit – no less, no more. The selection and the amount of the applied components and nutrients are optimally adapted to a horse's organism. Only thus a species-appropriate and individually tailored feeding can be guaranteed.

Quality is our top-priority

HorsePower by means of top-class products

Any horseman, breeder or racing horse owner strives for only the best for her/his horse: the ideal stallion for the brood mare, a renowned stable to train her/his horse in the best possible way, the most effective training systems for optimal performance. Precondition is the best possible varied diet available.

eQuantum feeds are products meeting the highest quality standards and feature extremely carefully selected components of top quality. This includes the best wholemeal grains as well as a high content of vitamins, minerals and trace elements. eQuantum guarantees optimal horse care without the addition of any artificial flavouring agents or essential oils that will only ruin the horse's taste buds, thus robbing it of its gut instincts. Don't compromise where feed is concerned!

Know-how – our finest asset

HorsePower through scientific research

Horses should not only enjoy their feed, it also has to do them good! The compositions of eQuantum feed are therefore based on holistic research concerning horses. Since the beginning of the 80s we have been studying horses and their feeding habits. Extensive study tours led us to Iceland, Russia or Africa and proved that free-roaming horses pick certain plants quite deliberately to satisfy their individual needs.

In close cooperation with internationally renowned scientists and experienced horsemen findings were discussed and results exchanged. Then, consequently, we developed an especially high-grade, optimally balanced horse feed that is constantly being checked and, if required, improved by eQuantum feed experts. We particularly concentrate on offering a constant feed-mix to avoid any hidden strains causing digestive disorders due to unwanted feed conversions. We at eQuantum always put the natural well-being of the horse first.

Continual Strength

HorsePower due to appropriate feeding concepts

Horses have to perform continuously, especially during tournaments. Today, though, a horse's life is characterized by numerous varying environmental influences resulting in reduced performance. Transports for hours on end, unfamiliar environments and constantly changing contacts form a modern horse's everyday life today. This means stress and a subsequent loss of energy.

Contrary to fast and easily digestible energy sources like oats, our feeds are not only deliberately designed to fight "energy holes", they also prevent them from the first. They do not adrenalise for a short time but provide – due to feed components exactly designed to enhance digestion – a constant and enduring, doping-free energy supply. eQumentum does not only offer a short-term performance support but guarantees a long-term boost!

Less is more

HorsePower through perfectly dosed top-quality feed

Quality has its price. That means that eQumentum is not cheap. In the end, however, cheapness never pays. In the end, our eQumentum products represent the best cost-performance ratio because they can be applied effectively and purposefully in relatively small amounts. The components of our concentrates are of such a compressed premium quality that they only occupy a small amount of space in a horse's stomach. Combined with sufficient roughage this ensures a trouble-free digestion without unnecessary strain. A good digestion is the prime goal for any healthy, top-performance horse. And: You will save a lot of money!

Individual Advice

HorsePower due to our comprehensive service

Whenever feeding is concerned, lots of questions arise. What's the best way to feed a purebred Arabian or what's best for a good-feeding Oldenburg Breed? And, individual physical requirements will also be changing during a horse's lifespan and, therefore, the owner will have to adapt to the respective changes.

At eQumentum's we give your horse's feeding issues our top priority. You will receive exact feeding instructions tailored specifically to your horse's needs, enabling you to receive the most favourable results and, at the same time, keep your feeding costs as low as possible.

Feed the right way - we at eQumentum's offer our support.
